

Ellie Goldsmith

“I love how each book you read is a new adventure that transports you into a different world with important experiences and lessons to be learned.”

Age: 15

Location: Abingdon, VA

School: Abingdon High School

Job Title: Student

As a sophomore at Abingdon High, Ellie is considered the bookworm of the family with an adamant passion for reading. While she mainly enjoys fiction, Ellie is open to experiencing other genres to help deepen her understanding of the novel and further enhance her literary skills as a writer. When she is not reading, Ellie can be found writing her very own novels or working on her schoolwork so that she may eventually attend college as an English major.

Ellie's Goals:

Ellie is looking for a website that will allow her to easily discover new books that cater to her own interests. Coming from a small town of 8,000 people with the library as the main resource for books, shuffling through every title by hand to find a prospective read has made Ellie impatient and discouraged. A website that will supply Ellie with recommended books based on her personal preferences with just the click of a button will not only save time and patience but will also allow her to focus more on her reading along with her dream of becoming an aspiring novelist.